

RETURN TO GLORY MINISTRIES, INC.

March 15, 2011

There exists one church under Christ, yet we recognize the brokenness within the church. RTG seeks to heal this brokenness within the body by allowing for expression of individual faith traditions, practiced with freedom and charity towards our brothers. We stand shoulder to shoulder with Christ as our center, and all our focus on our shared desire for more of Him.

We on the Return To Glory team are excited that you will be attending the upcoming Camp. We anticipate that God has great things in store for all of us, and ask you to pray for God's blessing for yourself, the other men, the team, and all of our families. We look for the Father to pour out His Holy Spirit on the weekend, and bring each of us into deeper communion with Jesus Christ.

We also request you to stand shoulder to shoulder with us, in a very particular way on this weekend. RTG believes there exists one church under Jesus Christ, and we recognize and respect the various traditions of differing faiths. Our particular calling is to reach across denominational lines to the entire body in our common thirst for more of our King. In the course of the weekend, we recognize rather than ignore those differences, and always seek to unite rather than divide. It is a difficult and sensitive thing. We need your help.

It is difficult, if not impossible to check "who we are" at the door, which includes the familiar traditions of our faith journey. We simply ask you to engage your brothers with a particular charity and humility in this area, and keep in mind our common desire to move more deeply into the heart of God. We diligently seek and pray for this, and we ask you to join us in this. Allow common sense and humble prayer to guide you in the balance of honoring your own faith tradition, while not imposing it on others. Our experience tells us that healing of the body also heals each one of us.

We try to accommodate the desires for men to worship in ways that honor their faith tradition and personal lived experience. Our goal is to provide an experience that allows you to have intimate time with God, to silence worldly noise and open your heart for mighty works of God within you, and to walk in deep friendship and abiding brotherhood with other men. We ask that you allow that freedom for yourself and guard it for your brothers.

"Our Father in Heaven, Christ Jesus, Holy Spirit, we ask you to show us where we have created division and grieved you. Show us how to honor our differences and celebrate our unity, always moving closer to You. Become a Holy Flame that sears and seals us in You, turning us toward You, shoulder to shoulder. We declare that You are everything we seek. In your Mighty Name, Lord Jesus, Amen."

God bless you, and we look forward to seeing you on the weekend.

The Return-To-Glory Team